Achieving the European Education Area by 2025 - Communication COM(2020) 625 final; Council Resolution of the European Education Area
Teachers in the European Education Area

The vision:

....builds on competent and motivated teachers and trainers who benefit from a seamless continuum of a high-quality initial education, effective induction and continuous professional development throughout their careers, including participation in professional networks and communities and benefitting from learning mobility abroad.
Challenges – shortages of teachers

• In the EU, about 25% of principals report an overall shortage of qualified teachers.
• There is also a shortage of teachers to teach
  • students with special needs.
  • students in multicultural or multilingual settings
  • students from socioeconomically disadvantaged homes
• Ageing: almost 40% of lower secondary teachers in Europe are 50 or above, one third will retire in the next decade
• Some countries have high drop-out rates, but there is also oversupply of teachers in many countries.

Challenges – image and CPD

• Only 18% of lower secondary school teachers think their profession is valued by society

• Gender imbalance: in primary education the proportion of female teachers reaches 85% and at secondary level, 64.7%.

• Continuous Professional Development (CPD): 92% of teachers participate in further learning, but more is wanted:
  • 21% working with students with special needs;
  • 16% of ICT for teaching;
  • and 13% training in teaching in multilingual and multicultural environments.

Challenges – teachers and digital competences

- 6 EU Member States have a framework on teacher’s digital competences. In 15 countries, digital competences are included in a general teacher competence framework.
- Only 39% of teachers in the EU felt well prepared to use digital technologies in their daily work (TALIS 2018 survey)
- 62% of respondents of the DEAP consultation felt that they had improved their digital skills during the crisis.
- More than 50% of respondents plan to take action to further enhance their digital skills
